NEW YORK HERALD, SATURDAY, MARCH 9, 1861,-TRIPLE SHEET.

ern confederacy, and calculated to advance the Interests of the Southern confederacy, Jenkins Raymond will be sure to find it out and blow

We might add some other names on the New York list of candidates, but we have said enough to indicate the diggings where the President can find a rich placer, rocks of pure republican gold, all natives of the soil and men of sterling worth, from among whom he can eelect those who will be at once the decus et fulamen of the United States abroad-a shield to our interests and American ornaments at the courts to which they may be accredited.

WEAT WILL THE PROPLE OF THIS CITY DO. IN THE PRESENT CRISIS ?- Nothing is more apparent than the fact, that, in the midst of the perils by which the country is surrounded, the oliticians of all factions and parties, are com oletely rotten. Demecrats, whether of Tammany or Mozart Hall and republicans, mode rate and radical, are equally given over to love of self, pelf and power, and most of them would sell the dearest interests of the nation to the highest bidder. In the history of the United States, there never has been a period so fraught with present danger or menacing so great prospective calamity. Yet not the slightest hope of relief is to be placed in the sections and cliques into which all of our mu-nicipal politicians are divided. There is, in fact, no resource to be found, excepting in the people. Unless the respectable merchants, manufacturers, mechanics, laborers, capitalists and professional men of the city, bestir themselves, and begin at the beginning the task of making public feeling prominent nothing will be effected. The thoughts of all good citizens are agitated by the necessity of a reconstruction of the republic, and the formation of a great re-Union party, which shall sweep everything before it, but it cannot be accomplished. until they commence the work themselves. If taey imagine that the initiative will be taken by Tammany Hall, Mozart Hall, the Pewter Mug, or some republican club or association, they will rely upon a broken reed. Great bodies may pass resolutions for buncombe, but they mean nothing and can accomplish less. The respectable masses of the community should rise at once; cast off past party alliances, and any bonds that may have shackled them, and unite upon the basis of such amendments to the constitution as may restore the country to its pristine happiness and integrity.

A MAGNIFICENT STOCK JOBBING CONCERN.—It appears to us that the new administration has passed entirely into the hands of Wall street sharpers. There certainly never has been so fine an opportunity for the stock gamblers as that which they have at present. By arranging things at Washington-as they have undoubtedly done-they can keep the market in their own hands, and depress or lower the prices of stocks as they please. They find out beforehand what the news is to be, and operate accordingly. If it is a speck of war, stocks will go down; if it is a bit of conciliation, they will rise. With the administration to play into their hands, the Wall street gentry will count their profits by hundreds of thousands, while operators outside the ring will most assuredly burn their fingers. This idea of turning the government into a vast stock jobbing machine is not new. From 1832 to 1838, Nick Biddle's Philadelphia Bank-generally called the United States Bank-operated in its own shares to a tremendous extent. Biddle & Co. managed te obtain secret information from Washington before anybody else received it. If it was good news the local operators gave the crank a turn or two ahead; if bad, they turned it back; and so on for year in and year out they turned and returned, making their game very carefully from the start. Now the telegraph gives stock operators very superior advantages over their predecessors, and it would appear that we are entering upon a similar epoch, and that the highest function of the new administration is to plsy into the hands of the brokers. Louis Philippe tried this game, and Abraham Lincoln should recollect how splendidly the Citizen King succeeded.

SENATOR DOUGLAS ON THE WRONG SIDE OF JORDAN .- The distinguished Senator from Illinois, after wandering in the desert for twenty or thirty years, has evidently come to the con that, like the ancient lawgiver of the Children of Israel, he may, as he is waxing along towards old age, as well pack his trunks and prepare to go into Canaan to rest in Uncle

Such is evidently Mr. Douglas' intention jucging by his recent course in the Senate; but he will do well to recollect that Moses, his great prototype, ruined his political prospects by endeavoring to please everybody, and that he was never permitted to cross Jordan. From the summit of Mount Pisgah Moses saw, afar off, the sweet fields, the swelling floods, the majestic torests, the rich cities and busy towns of the promised land; then, girding up his loins, Moses laid himself down and died. So it will be with Senator Douglas. Far away in the dim distance he will see his old adversary Lincoln dealing out the milk and honey of the political Canasa, but not a drop will be given to the Little Giant. There are too many Aarons and Joshuas in the path of the Illinois Moses. He will die before he roaches the shore of Jordan, and future political pilgrims will endeavor in vain to find any traces of his final resting place. Sie transit.

A NEW OPINION FROM ALDERMAN BRADY .- Mr. Alderman Brady has a happy faculty at making discoveries. Now and then he illuminates the august Board of which he is so distinguished an ornament with an entirely novel idea. Lately he has waxed profound upon the subject of fanaticism. He announces to an aston ished world that Greeley, Wendell Phillips, Beecher and their friends are fanatics. As this remark, although eminently true, is not quite so new as it was twenty years ago, the ingenious Brady clinches it with the statement that Bennett, too, is a "fanatic." Until we began to reflect that Brady is one of those persons who pick up words and without knowing their meaning apply them indiscriminately, we were quite astonished at this entirely novel accusation Brady, however, reminds us of the apple woman who engaged in a discussion with Dan, O'Connell, and after exhausting all other epithets, the agitator astonished his adversary by calling her a "parallelogram." The dame was shocked beyond measure; but when O'Connell followed up his first blow by declaring that, in his opinion, she was no better than an "isosceles triangle," she burst into a flood of tears, saving that no hopest woman was ever so insulted. We are afraid that we shall be obliged to call . Mr. Brady a parallelogram, and if he is nt very careful the burning epithet of isosceles triangle will be put upon him. In the meantime we declare, with all due respect to the Board, that he is an irregular rhombold. That will do very well for a beginning.

THE SHOCES OF THE REPUBLIC. -In another part of our paper to-day will be found a long but interesting and valuable account of the various shocks which our government has experienced since its formation. Commencing with the army plot of 1783, Shays' rebellion the whiskey insurrection, the Alien and Sedition laws of 1798, Aaron Burr's conspiracy, the Hartford Convention, Missouri compromise, the Creek and Cherokee troubles in Georgia, the South Carolina pullification controversy, Dorr's war, the Compromise measures of 1850, the repeal of the Missouri Com promise in 1854, the troubles in Utah, and, inally, the dissolution of the Union, have followed, at intervals of only eight or ten years, in quick succession. It has been a crucible out of which, until now, the country has emerged unscathed

The history is not without its lessons. Two thoughts, however, will strike the reader with more than ordinary force. The first is that the first occurrence of real national importance that took place was the Hartford Convention, the mother of secession; the second is that the nullification doctrines of South Carolina in 1832 and since were the legitimate offspring of their New England predecessor. Here the idea originated, and here it is that still exists the cause of all the troubles with which the country is afflicted. Massachusetts is not less the bothed of doctrines subversive of the constitution and the Union to-day than she was in 1814, when her Legislature, by a large mejority, sent strong delegation of her principal citizens to sit in a convention with closed doors and hatch treason against the federal government.

Lieut. C. L. Sayre, of Alabama. A SUGGESTION TO SELL OUT FLORIDA.

A SUGGESTION TO SELL OUT FLORIDA. The Pensacola papers are exceedingly indignant a Governor Perry for having, as they charge, shamefully neglected to furnish the volunteer companies from that city, on service at the forts, with sufficient provisions or proper arms to protect the State and defend themselves. The Gaestic thus bitterly and luguiriously responds to the assertion that the action of the Governor may have been occasioned rather by the want of mann than the want of molination. Says the Gaestic—Florida will soon be called upon to furnish her quots of men for the regular army of the Southern confederacy. This quota has been put down at 1,409 men. With an empty treasury we cannot imagine how she can enlist, equip and arm this number. If, as the Tethrae states, our State is bankrupt at this early stage of the action, we think the senery was old founds, let Fiorida be divided between our state. States of Georgia and Alabama, by the line of the Chattabooche river. The secare this is done the better, for to this must it come at last.

DESIGN FOR A FLAG FOR THE SCUTHERN CONFEDERACY.

[From the Lynchburg (Va.) Republican.]

We were resterday shown a beautiful design for a flag for the Southern confederacy, gotten up by our townsman, Lieut. Kirkwood Otey, of the Home Guard, which he intends sending to Hon. I. Pope Walker, Secretary of War of the new confederacy, to be by him aubunities to the Committee for the Selection of a Flag. The design, which he beautifully drawn and ceiored, may be described as follows:—in the left upper corner of the flag is a stack of three muskets, and hat ving from the centre of the stack is a drum and a soldie." a accourtements in the back ground of the muskets is a guiltary encampent. Encircling the points of the hat yound is the French motto, "Nous Nous Nupportene"—translated, "We support each other." On a scroll, under the buts of the muskets, are the letters "G. S. of N. A."—Confederated States of North America. On the main ground in the left upper corner, circling the stack of muskets are seven stars, representing the saven seconds States—South Carolina, Florida, Georgia, Alahama, Mississippi, Louisman and Texas—and seven stripes, alternately red, white and blue, signifying Union, as suggested by the chorus of the song, "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean, Hurrah for the Red, White and Blue."

The Pennsylvania Tommage Tax Repeal.

Harmsner, March 7, 1801.

It is currently reported here that Governor Curtin has had influences brought to bear on him by the managers of the Ealtimore and Chio, New York and Erie, New York Central and the Grand Trunk (Canada) Raliroad Companies, which have effected a combination for the purpose, to induce him to veto the bill for the repeal of the tonnage tax. In any event, I am assured, on un doubted authority, that the bill will not be signed by him: but, if it becomes a law, it will be so under the constitutional provision requiring its return within ten days—the Governor retaining it beyond that time.

To the Honorable Senators and Reference.—Whereas, it is not only incompatible with honor and putriotism, but cowardly and base, for republicans to surreader under the pressure of secosion and secession threats; and whereas, they have done no wrong, but have, in the last election, succeeded by constitutional means, by addressing the enlightened reason and conscience of the people, in view of long years of misrule and rapacity of a corrupt party and administration; and whereas, it is incumbent upon all good citizens to maintain the supremacy of the constitution and the laws; we, the undersigned, citizens of the United States, do respectfully, but carnestly and firmly, recommend to our Senators and representatives in Congress, and all others in authority, to stand by the constitution as it is and the government of the country, and to make no compromise whatever.

among others. The temper of this patriot may be inferred from the following:

Mr. Codding said he had been made acquainted (or as nearly acquainted in he could be without actually joining it) with the existence of an organization more radical on the subject of slavery than anything yet known to political movements in the United States—which organization was intereded to be put into active working order just as soon as the republican party should recode from its principles. This organization differed from Garrisontaniam only in the fact that its ends were practical. The speaker did not refer to it as approving of it, but simply to point out one of the results morally certain to follow from an abandonment, by so much as a hale's breadth, of the

UNIED STATES SHIP CONSTRUCTION,
St. Helena, Jan. 20, 1831.

We left St. Paul de Loando on the 11th and arrived here We left St. Paul de Loando on the 11th and arrived here on the 28th of December, making the passage it seventeen days, which is a good one, aking into consideration that we had first to visit Little Fish Bay, which is 500 miles to the windward of *Leando, in order to procure a clearance of health, and where we were detained one day. The steamer Mohican, Commodore Godon, arrived also on the 28th uit. She left Fish Buy the day previous to our arrival there, but in consequence of a defect in her botters, was compelled to make the passage to this port under canvass, we beating her time at least forty eight hours. Her crew have had a general liberty of three days, and are in excellent health and spirits. On the evening of the 7th Consul Carroll gave an entertainment at his residence, complimentary to Commodore Godon, which was attended by our officers, the officers of the Mohican, and several of the important functionaries ashore. On the atternoon of the 9th the officers of the Mohican returned the compliment by giving an entertainment on board, and she salled on the 11th for St. Paul de Loando.

Mohican returned the compliment by giving an entertainment on board, and she sailed on the 11th for St. Paul de Loande.

The ateamer San Jacinto, Capt. T. A. Dornin, arrived on the 16th iast., bringing us the mail from Loando. She is to remain here until the 1st of February, giving her crew a run ashore before leaving for the coast.

Our officers have been busy since our arrival entertaining the various efficials of the island. On the night of the 16th we had a theatrical performance on beard, gotten up by the crew, which was witnessed by a number of ladies and gentlemen from shire, and on the attorneon of the 17th a ball and dimer were given by the wardroom officers. Captain Nicholas, of this ship, Captain Dornin and officers of the San Jacinto, and a number of English army officers, with ladies, were among the invited. Everything passe of pleasantly, the guests retiring at nine o'cleck P. M.

Our "blue jackets" have hid as unsatisfactory liberty of forty-eight hours, being, while ashore, harassed and driven about by a squad of police. These who were guilty of the sailor like offence of getting drunk were sent off to the ship in charge of an liber, who received a fee of five dollars for his trouble. In this way the sum of $145 was paid to the police, and charged to the accounts of the men, and all further liberty stopped, so that for the last fortnight our tars have had to be contented with a view of the rock from the ship's deck, while officers are allowed to leave the ship with impunity.

The sloop of war Portsmouth, Commander Colhoun, sailed from St. Paul de Losado on the 9th inst. for Little Fish Ray, and is expected to arrive here about the 1st of

The general health of the squadron is good. We sail on the 25th of this month for Loando, and from thence on a cruise in the neighborhood of Congo river.

Despatches from Commodore Stribbling, of the China squadron, say that in consequence of daturbancos, no vessel had been sent south until January 1. The sloop of war Jamestewn is now ready for inunching, from the sectional dry dock at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. This sloop carries twenty-two guns, and has been undergoing repairs since last October. The repairs have been so extensive that she is now almost a new ship. Her bends are entirely new. Many of the old planks were also removed from her bottom. A large portion of her spar deck is also new. On her gun deck her planking was found much cut up under the batteries by running the guns in and out at exercise. This has been thoroughly renovated with solid four inch yellow pine planking. The quarter galleries are entirely new. The masta and spars are also new, and ready for stepping and rigging. The vessel is also newly coppered. No orders have been received for fitting her out, though daily expected.

The coast survey steamer Vixen has left the Navy Yard, Brocklya, to commence her season's operations in section 3. She will proceed at once to execute work in New York bay and harbor of the highest importance to the commercial interests of this city.

The Stave Trade—The act of the Provisional Congress prohibiting the foreign slave trade will be found in our columns. It is a far more reasonable and effective law than that of the old confederation, and its passage gives the lie to abolition slanders upon the motives of the seceded States. The act contains one remarkable feature which will attract public attention, and is worthy of universal imitation. The Canfederate States is the first Power to place the coole traffic on the same footing with the slave trade, and rank it among the felonies of her statute book. What will puritanceal Englans, who has been shedding tears for a century over the inhumanity of the Southern American States, say to this? We have thus taught her a lesson in Christian philosophy which she would do well to lay to heart.—Savinnah Republican,

SPRING STYLES FOR 1861.

In announcing the introduction of his Spring Hat, ESPEN.

Rother would remark that it is the most costly fabric of its kind that he has ever presented to the public of New York.

When the original model was perfected, the design was so satisfactory that he determined it should be clothed in material even richer and finer than usual, and that it should not only outshine all competition abroad, but cellipse all its predecessors at home. He therefore offers the Espenscheld Hat for this season as a nearer approach to the perfect in contour, material, finish and classic taste than any that his unequalled manufacturing facilities have heretofore enabled him to produce. But in enhancing the value of his fabrics it is not his intention to enhance their price, and he would have it understood that the standard Espenscheld price of three dollars and a half is still adhered to. He challenges a comparison between his Spring Style and that of any other house, at the same time cheerfully conceding to his competitors in the result hat time of Broadway, nine tends of whom do not manufacture in the order of the challenges of whom do not manufacture and sells at three dollars and a half.
